Thousands Of Dollars Await Early Members Of Alberta Wheat Pool

A 12-year-old search to return original invested capital to early members of the Alberta Wheat Pool has led into mystery trails in distant lands.

A letter has arrived at the Pool from Japan. As it was written in Japanese a translator had to be located before it transpired that it came from a founder-member of the Pool who formerly farmed at Raymond.

One lucky Japanese citizen will be about $200 wealthier in the near future as a result.

The Pool still has about $300,000 in cash belonging to original members who cannot be located. It is the remaining sum from a total of $8,500,000 contributed during 1923-28 to build elevators and provide working capital.

It was raised by a system of voluntary deductions of three cents a bushel for wheat delivered to the Pool. The money was then credited to members in the form of reserves, and in 1941 it was decided to repay it.

The policy was devised not only to repay the reserves to owners but to maintain present Pool ownership in the hands of actual producers.

Then the difficulty started, for many of the oldtimers had retired or left the province during the depression, and had virtually disappeared into the world at large.

When the mystery deepened and the Pool found itself with a large sum of money on its hands, a program was started recently to advertise the names of the beneficiaries in country newspapers.

It has paid off with surprising results, say officials of the Wheat Pool.

One member had moved to the Peace River district many years ago but heard through the grapevine of a probable windfall and arrived hot-foot in Calgary to collect. A cheque for $470 nearly caused him to faint.

Another man, formerly of Vulcan, long ago retired to Calgary and became crippled. He decided to pay a visit to the Pool office for old time's sake and hobbled home with a cheque for $388.

Important Warning To All Hunters

LAC LA BICHE — Strychnine pellets and cyanide guns have been set out in a great many areas in L.I.D. 102. These poisons and guns have been set for the control of coyotes, but are also very dangerous to humans and dogs. Warning signs have been posted on entries to the land that the poisons are set on, but may have weathered and faded during the summer and not been replaced with new ones.

So be careful when hunting in an area you are not familiar with, and also ask the farmers whose land you are hunting on or next to if there is any poison or guns set out in that vicinity.

Fall Cultivation For Weed Control

IMPROVED FARMING PRACTICES BRING VASTLY IMPROVED YIELDS

Perennial Weeds

Perennial weeds can be drastically reduced by fall cultivation. The ground should be worked three to four inches deep for one or two operations with the last operation as near to freeze-up as possible. By disturbing the plants just before the ground freezes they do not have time to prepare for winter and extensive winter killing should result. Care must be taken not to drag bits of roots to other areas if the weeds are in patches, and for this reason a disk type of machine is usually most satisfactory. This cultivation will not entirely eradicate the weeds but it is a worthwhile step in keeping them under control.

Wild Oats

Wild oats is not a perennial and therefore requires a little different treatment. The main object in fall cultivation in wild oat control is to try to get the seed to germinate early in the spring. As the seeds will not germinate until they have dried it is best to delay cultivation for two to three weeks after the crop has been removed. Shallow cultivation is essential because if they are buried deeply they may lie dormant in the soil for many years. Shallow cultivation this fall should induce many of the oats to grow in the spring which may be killed by pre-seeding tillage. Avoid seeding the field early in the spring as you should give as many of the seeds as possible a chance to germinate before seeding. A quick maturing barley crop can then be seeded.

The use of crop rotations that include legumes and grasses are almost essential in the best methods of weed control whether the weeds be annuals or perennials.

290,000 New Cars Sold In Canada

The Bank of Nova Scotia Monthly Review notes that the possibilities in the market for passenger cars are impressive. Passenger automobile registrations in Canada in 1951 numbered 2.1 million, or 15 for every 100 persons in the population, and last year over 290,000 new passenger automobiles were sold in Canada.

A population of 25 million with the present U.S. rate of car use, which is not far from double the current Canadian car rate, would have seven million cars on the road.

The growth of the Canadian market also has significant implication for Canada's manufacturing industries, states the Review.

Atta Boy!

Overheard on a dance floor the other night.

Him: "Say, do your eyes bother you?"

Her: "No—why?"

Him: "Well, they bother me!"

She Knows Her Way

The Professor—After your motion for a new trial has been denied, what is the next step to take?

The Pretty Girl Student—I'd try a little.

Let's Watch

Two fishermen were angling in a river when one suddenly dropped his rod.

"Heavens!" he ejaculated. "Did you see that fellow fall off that cliff over there into the river?"

"Don't get excited, Bill," advised the other. "Perhaps he was a movie actor making pictures."

"But, my stars! How can we tell?"

"Well," replied the other, "if he drowns, he ain't."

All Set

"I thought of a fine idea today, dear. I promised a thousand dollars to a man if he would relieve me of all my worries."

"But where will you get the thousand to give him?"

"That will be his first worry."

Particular

Mrs. Sussy—Are you sure these are strictly fresh eggs?

Grocer—Certainly, madam. The farmer who brings them to me refuses to keep chickens which lay any other kind.

We've Seen 'em Too

"What are those queer-looking statues over there?" asked the visiting Englishman.

"These are not statues," explained the American, "they are workmen busy on one of our government projects."

His Reputation

Judge—Do you consider this defendant a reliable man? Has he a good reputation for truth and veracity?

Witness—Well, to be honest with you, your honor, that man has to get somebody else to call his pigs at feeding time. They won't believe him.

Reasons For Grain Glut

In an issue of the Alberta Wheat Pool budget, issued from Calgary, on outline of reasons for grain congestion now afflicting the Western Prairies is given. The Wheat Pool Budget points out that the production of wheat, oats and barley in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta has averaged 1,200,000,000 bushels in the three seasons from 1951 to 1953 inclusive. The peak yield was in 1952 when the production of such grains totalled 1,326,000,000.

In the ten years from 1941 to 1950 average production of these grains in the prairie provinces was 820,000,000 bushels. In these last three seasons grain production has exceeded the ten year average referred to by 380,000,000 bushels which figure is the long-time average of Canadian wheat production.

The present congestion in country and terminal elevators is due directly to the unprecedented grain production. Never before have the prairie provinces produced such a volume of grain and existing facilities were never expected to handle such a huge bushelage. Export sales by the Wheat Board have been at record levels but not sufficient to clear up the surplus.

If farmers have a thorough appreciation of the situation, they will realize the difficulties in providing handling facilities and in disposing of the huge quantities of grain which have been produced, the Wheat Pool concludes in its assessment of the situation.

The Latest From Kinsey

Since the first news stories have been published, dealing with the new Kinsey book, there have been controversies in various states over proposed bans and mailing privileges. Some who think the book harmful have advocated that it be banned from the mails and others have favored barring it from sales counters, or censoring it.

It is a little surprising to note the activities of some people and organizations, in their efforts to keep controversial literature away from the eyes of their fellow men and women. Unless the book is obscene or contains material which, if mailed, would violate laws, it should be accorded every mailing privilege.

The mistake many people make in trying to censor publications, or keep them from the public, is one that has been made for centuries and which has been overcome in democracies only after a hard fight against control of man's mind. This country stands for individual freedom, freedom of mind and freedom of choice. The strength of democracy lies in majority votes and the only way in which the electorate can be informed is through full access to both sides of every question.

180 Feet Of Snow

While Albertans enjoyed summer, news from Argentina told of a record snow in Argentina and Chile. Drifts along the Transandean Railway measured up to 180 feet deep and observers in Argentina called the snowstorm one of the worst of the century.

Naturally communications between Argentina and Chile were interrupted by the record snow and, at last reports, snow was still falling. Already, 72 persons are known to have been killed by the storm.

We mention this, in case the hot weather has been bothersome lately, to show that things could be worse. One of them would be the task of shovelling 180 feet of snow off one's lawn, or walkway.

Moose Trouble

Canadian National Railways President, Donald Gordon, told a luncheon group recently that the volume and tone of diesel engine horns on Canadian railroads was playing hob with Canadian moose. It seems that the diesel horns sound very similar to the vocal responses of moose cows.

Naturally this is disturbing to the male moose, who spends considerable time in the mating season prowling the forest calling for lady friends. Gordon says bull moose have mistaken the sound of diesel horns on some occasions with "disturbing results."

Are There Any Fish In Alberta?

By T. W. PUE

This column was prompted by a letter I received a few weeks ago, from a couple of would-be fishermen who made the mistake of looking in the wrong places for fish. It makes pretty sad reading; I must say, and I re-print it here exactly as I received it:

My friend and I have been fishing for three years but so far have only been able to spear the odd sardine out of the tin. We started in a mild way at Seba with a rowboat and trolling outfit. The excitement of rowing and whirling the spool around my head more than made up for the lack of fish. But after a while, I began to wish that we could catch just one, even a little one.

T. W. Pue

We fished Seba up and down for one season, but nothing doing. Either the fish saw us coming or else our technique was all wrong.

The next year we were more ambitious. We went to Jasper and hired a guide to take us to the Miette river. The guide caught all kinds of delicious trout, but none for us. It ended in us going back and having a fish supper at Athabasca—the guide's fish.

Then the fun began. We rowed all over Lake Isle, back to Seba, Ma-Me-O Beach, Whitemud Creek, and finally ended up on the banks of the Pembina river. This was the pay-off. Down a 200-foot cutoff, then through the underbrush and into the river. We caught a clam shell, which we took home—but no fish. And the climb back nearly broke my heart. The Transcontinental Oil Company had put their pipe-line through, and the only way up was the right-of-way. My friend and I called it a day and went home.

Next time we shall go to Seba, Ma-Me-O, Lake Isle, Whitemud or even to the junction of the Lobstick and Pembina rivers, but the result will be the same. Are there really fish in Alberta?

Yours truly,

A. and L. SMITH,
c/o 8907 118 Avenue, City.

Now, I ask you, could anything be more heart-rending than the situation A. and L. Smith find themselves in? Well, yes, perhaps the plight of a modern 17-year-old belle of the ball who still has to meet the man she loves. But that is a problem for Louisa. I don't know what Louisa knows about fishing but I'm going to start sounding off as an expert.

FISH IN WABAMUN LAKE

The boys mention fishing at Seba Beach without success. Well, I have fished many times in Lake Wabamun and never failed to catch at least one or two fish. Two years ago I took a friend from Chicago to Wabamun (we fished right in front of the village) and he caught six fish. He had the most expensive, elaborate lay-out of fishing tackle I've ever seen. And he said he had fished all over the United States and Canada but he caught more in one day at Wabamun than anywhere before in his experience. He certainly was tickled with his experience at Wabamun.

GO NORTH, YOUNG MAN!

If you really want to catch a lot of fish, however, you should go north. Look at a map of Alberta and you'll see scores of lakes in the area of Athabasca, Lac la Biche and Glendon. They all have fish. Some of them are pretty inaccessible but if you can use a jeep you can get into most of them. Others are quite easy to drive to with car and boat-on-trailer.

My favorite fishing spot is Beaver Lake, three miles south of Lac la Biche on a good, graded, passable road. Three years ago it was a poor day's fishing if we couldn't catch 30 jackfish and one or two perch. Now half as many makes a good day's catch.

Last week-end a young oil worker from St. Paul managed to catch 14 simply by casting from a rowboat anchored a few yards off-shore at the nearest point on the lake. He got as many as I did by sailing several miles down the lake.

FISHING AMBITION

Northern Alberta lakes north of present highways or roads still offer the best opportunities for fishing if you can get to them. My ambition is to some day fly "up north" in a pontoon-equipped plane and try out these neglected, isolated lakes one by one.

But until that happy day, I'm pretty certain of always catching some fish at Lac la Biche.

TRADE WITH JAPAN

In One Man's Viewpoint Stan Ross is really telling us we should encourage trade with Japan.

Before the last war we did a lot of trading with Japan. We shipped our old automobiles, horse-shoes and other scrap iron in return for some pretty shoddy silks and cottons. We got this old scrap back in bombs and bullets that killed a lot of our boys.

In July, 1950, Stan Ross said about the Korean war and China: "According to reports Britain has refused to stop selling oil to Communist China. What point is there in talking peace if we are always ready to equip our enemies with the means of making war? One becomes very tired of all this peace talk and the nations that talk of promoting world peace and yet continue to supply other nations with things that are vitally necessary to conduct war."

It is no small thing to ask our men and boys to go out and be shot with arms and ammunition that have been made somewhere in the British Empire or else in the United States. Every mother and mother's son should rise up and demand that no such contraband of war be sent out of our country. If we seek peace let us not promote war. Let us, as a democratic nation, forbid the government to conscript our boys and send them out to fight for the sake of the big moguls who make millions from the sale of arms and ammunition.

Which side is Stan Ross on? Trade or no trade with potential and former enemies?

UNHUMAN, SAYS SHE

After reading the story of those Arizona polygamists who use religion as an excuse, I am both amused and shocked. At least millionaire playboys who do the same thing have enough money to support any resulting children. How can there be any real love in such a situation? Such men must not be human if they can travel from spouse to spouse, leaving misery, insecurity, poverty and frustration. I'll bet there is feminism, too, and what woman in her right mind wouldn't be jealous? When we tell our children about the birds and bees, let us omit the lowest form of animal life, the polygamists.

HOT TIME PREDICTED

To those of any faith, Protestant or Catholic, who say religion has no place in our schools, my answer is that the troubles we have today are caused by people neglecting the fundamental truths of the Christian faith. I feel sorry for people who have no church and no faith. They'd better order a good, strong, double-thick asbestos suit now 'cause they'll need it.

LETTER TO LOUISA

YOUNG LADY, 16, LIKES DATES BUT DOESN'T LIKE BOYS! WHAT TO DO?

Dear Louisa,

I am in my sixteenth year and am considered rather attractive. I can get dates very easily if I want to, but here is where my problem lies. I like boys, but only to a certain extent—til they ask me for a date or get too chummy with me, then, I suddenly seem to dislike them. I do go out though, and so far I have found only one boy in ten that I thoroughly enjoy being with.

When a boy calls on a girl and she cannot accept, should she say "Thanks for calling," or does the boy say "Thanks?"
Liz.

Answer:

Do you remember the childhood rhyme about what little girls (and little boys) are made of. The girls, you'll recall, are sugar and spice and all things nice. Seems that to a little girl, boys are made of quite different and disagreeable stuff. It seems to me you are, psychologically, just now growing out of the "little girl" stage as far as your attitude to the boys is concerned. As you say, you are attractive and get dates easily, you are in a position to pick and choose. Therefore, choose the boys you like being with, but remember you are too young to captivate or be captivated by one boy. You are in the springtime of life when you should be having a good, carefree time. So don't take any boy too seriously and don't worry about your attitude to boys in general. You'll grow out of that. You should thank any young man who asks you on a date, even though you decline his offer.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

I've been going with a boy for quite a while. He seems to date me up every second Saturday only. Every time he comes down he brings along his sisters.

Do you think he cares for me? I'm quite fond of him.

"Just Wondering."
Stony Plain.

Answer:

If a 30-year-old suitor brought his sisters along on every date he'd be banished to perpetual bachelorhood, and rightly so. But if you and your young swain are new in your teens I'd say he is

Shipmate Says Octopus Harmless To Diver

Wigmore was working near some pilings, 30 feet below the surface of Esquimalt harbor when he felt a gentle tapping on his shoulder.

He turned, looked and yelled. And what he yelled indicated clearly that he wanted to be back aboard the diving tender in a hurry.

Clinging to a piling with five of its eight six-foot tentacles was a huge octopus. The other three sucker-covered tentacles were groping through the murky water in Wigmore's direction.

Back aboard the tender, Wigmore was assured by a dockyard shipmate that the octopus would not have harmed him. But Wigmore said the shipmate did not offer to don the diving suit and prove his point.

Unusual Accident

PLYMOUTH, England — Two deer hunters were shot and seriously injured in a recent unusual accident. The hounds had chased a deer into a river. From the bank, Col. Louis Murphy shot and killed it with one shot from a double-barreled shotgun. He then laid the weapon on the ground. The hound, frisking about, stepped on a trigger, which fired the second barrel. Both Murphy and his companion, Ralph Slocombe, were struck by heavy pellets and had to be taken to hospital.

Urges More Consideration For Education Of Rural Students

Dear Sir: The teacher shortage is now a chronic disability—or is it?

Parents of children and young people graduating from the fine new centralized schools are having difficulty understanding the unlimited funds available for the construction of new buildings in an ever-growing haste for new Centralized Districts.

The beautiful Rich Lake four-roomed school, with hardwood floors and wide swinging doors, venetian blinds, etc., fails completely in its original purpose of educating the individual to a higher concept of true living that comes with a higher education. The four rooms filled with a staff of teachers, parents, can not send scholars qualified for ten or eleven because it is assumed the teachers are not able to handle the higher grades. Young men and women for the lack of proper living accommodation in the town, or financial reasons, must forego their further education. A truly lamentable situation indeed.

Surely some solution could be found by the trustees, who are able by financial wizardry to erect such fine architectural structures all over the province, yet fail dismally at the main purpose of these institutions, which is the proper education of each individual attending the schools. Why waste time getting a correspondence course through an unqualified instructor in the lower grades if, when you have struggled through that phase, there is no assurance of securing qualified instruction in the higher courses?

Every business must set aside certain sums for purposes of expansion or retrenchment against unforeseen circumstances, if they plan on continued successful operation.

Every farmer must make provision for his next year's seed crop needs and would be deemed a stupid fellow if he failed to do so.

Our educational authorities are pushing centralization to the limit—huge expansion in capital building of new schools with the sky apparently the limit. Yet appear unconcerned about providing proper financial inducements to the youth to complete a course that would fill the vacancies already beyond—yes, far beyond the ability of any inspector to obtain. To make matters worse, are filling the vacancies anyway, just so the schools are open. Grade tens and elevens can now fend for themselves. That is no apparent concern of your divisional trustees. This we condemn as a sinful waste of probable teacher material.

Education is now big business. Your government is investing huge sums of money for the purpose, the farmer is taxed unmercifully in the process. The management of your schools are in your own hands through your divisional trustees and your local boards. If you are not satisfied with present conditions, it is your personal and individual fault, as figures for any school board election will prove. Less than 25 per cent ever vote on any school election.

Rich Lake School District is justly proud of the five girls who have passed their examinations and will enter Grade Twelve classes at Lac la Biche. From there on, then what? Perhaps none of these young women are teacher material. Surely some among the many from all the other centralized districts in the Lac la Biche School Division are! Then why not train our own school teachers, from our own graduates? Let the government and the School Division share the costs with the parents in providing the necessary training to fit the potential teacher material that is being wasted yearly, because of some lack of the school, or financial disability of the parents or scholar to complete such a course.

What use those fine structures if the student must turn from its doors in frustration, be a carrier for those fortunate enough to have parents who live in the towns next door to the High School. Listen well to the politician quote figures with pride to the amounts granted for education, and well he may, compared to other days. However, it might be interesting to compile figures of: How many individuals drop education because it is apparently impossible to obtain enough good teachers to staff the centralized schools already built?

I can name dozens within my short acquaintance who have quit school or become discouraged for lack of opportunity to take Grade ten or eleven in their own home school within an enlarged division, because the schools could not be staffed with proper qualified

Alberta Tourist Trade Reports Steady Gains

Tourist traffic to Alberta is moving in large volume, with good prospects of last year's total being exceeded, according to provincial government officials.

In July, traffic was reported to be 19 per cent more than a year ago.

One of the significant developments is the increased number of Ontario cars visiting Alberta, officials said. This has been noted at auto camps, hotels and other agencies catering to the tourist business.

During July, the Alberta government travel bureau at Macleod registered 13,038 tourists to Alberta, a gain of nearly 3,000 over a year ago. Most of the visitors were from the U.S.

The newcomers were bound for Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper, Edmonton, Red Deer, Calgary or Lethbridge.

The record has lasted for the last ten years and will continue for as much longer unless you as an individual make some personal effort at forcing a solution. H.T.

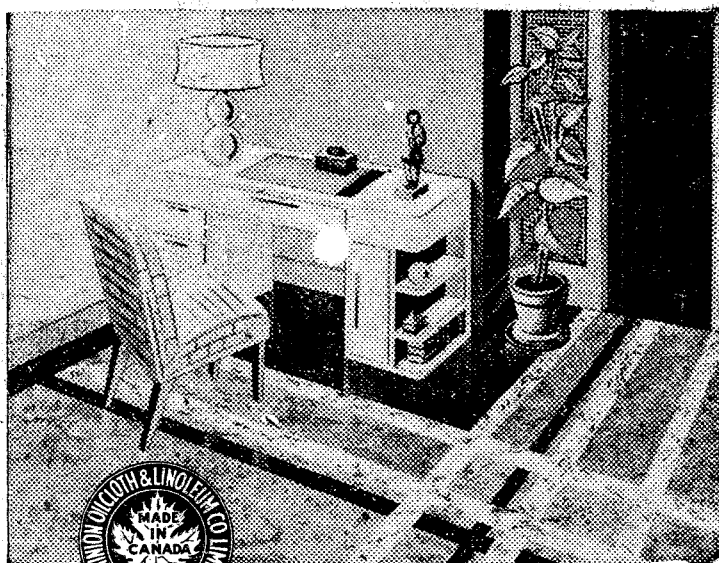

Since the current season opened, 19,431 visitors have registered at Fort Macleod bureau, compared with 14,766 during the corresponding period of last year.

Reports from the national parks in Alberta, disclose a large number of tourist visitors, including many from the Pacific northwest and eastern states.

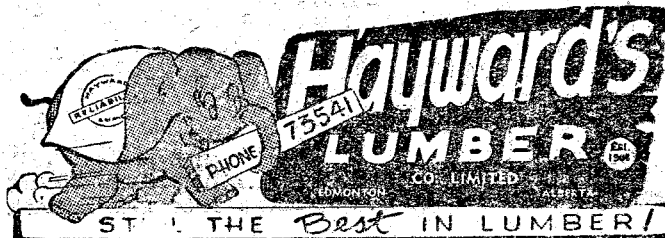

Travel over the Alaska highway also has hit a good volume.

Alberta Farmers Respond To Better Fall Weather With More Harvesting Done

Fields of golden crops have become alive with the hum of harvest activity throughout Alberta this week as operations go into full swing.

Blessed with excellent warm weather farmers hasten to harvest their crops for the second highest production in the vigorous history of the Great West, according to the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Although dogged by harsh skies this season all the way from the wet spring to the calamitous hailstorms of July, farmers are more contented now with over half the provincial wheat crop already cut.

Grain cutting became general throughout the province last week as the harvest got into full swing. Threshing is also well advanced in the south and southeast.

Crops in the foothills were further retarded by mid-week showers and heavy dews which delayed morning progress.

Another week of good weather should see the bulk of Alberta's grain crops cut and threshing should become general too.

Cutting is most advanced both in the southeast and northeast, while average in the province is: wheat 56 per cent cut, 16 per cent threshed; oats 37 cut, 4 threshed; barley 64 cut, 15 threshed.

With 85 per cent of the wheat cut, 67 per cent threshed in the Foremost district, there is only 17 per cent cut and nil threshed in the Eckville district west of Red Deer.

Around St. Paul nearly the whole of the wheat had been cut but none threshed; Calgary district also made better headway in the prevailing good weather with 38 per cent wheat cut but 52 per cent barley cut. Average wheat yield in the Calgary district is low at 20.8 bushels per acre, lowest forecast in the whole province.

Half the wheat crop has been cut south of Calgary around Vulcan with six per cent threshed at an estimated yield of 23.3 bushels per acre average.

Last year at this time 64 per cent of the wheat crop in the province had been cut with 18 per cent threshed.

Newbrook News Briefs

Newbrook's curling rink is becoming a reality instead of just a dream, as the local boys and men have been busy putting in the cement foundation.

Newbrook Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Mike Radomski, and many items of interest were discussed, and Mrs. John Hrycun was presented with a birthday present which was a WI pin.

On Thursday a baby shower was held in the home of Mrs. T. E. Pollard for baby Carl Cramer. Several ladies were present. The date was also the birthday of Mrs. M. O'Donnell.

Newbrook School opened on the 14th with five vans bringing the children in from the country. The new van is driven by Mr. Steve Berezuk, bringing children from Balsam Grove district. Mrs. V. Crosswell, teacher of the Balsam Grove School, is one of the teachers on the Newbrook staff. Mrs. Cecil Dafeo is also a new teacher, taking grade I. Mr. H. Golan, teacher from Spruce Canyon, is also a new teacher on the staff.

Mr. Harry Orichowski is a patient in Smoky Lake Hospital and all his friends wish for his speedy recovery.

Just to show he can still do it, Mr. Fred Pollard of Newbrook is stooking some barley. Mr. Pollard is 90 years of age.

There are 250 pupils attending school in Plamondon this year. There are four taking grade 12: Fernie Amiot, Fernande Belanger, Dorothy Charbonneau, and Gabrielle Grenier. ALBERTA LABOR LEADER SAYS EUROPEANS LOOK TO CANADA

EDMONTON, (BUP) — Labor leader Carl Berg, who recently returned from a tour of Europe, said today fear of the future is prompting many Europeans to look to Canada for new homes and security.

Berg, vice-president and international representative of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, indicated this country should accept newcomers despite labor's usual hostility to large-scale immigration.

"Everywhere I went in Western Europe I was asked about Canada," Berg said. "They asked how they could come to Canada, and the opportunities. Farmers wanted to know about agriculture here, and the price of land."

"The main reason they want to leave is the constant fear of what might happen next in Europe. They feel Canada is not only a land of opportunity, but a place of security for them and their children."

Himself a native of Sweden, Berg visited Europe to attend the International Labor Organization and the International Confederation of Free Trade Union meetings at Geneva and Stockholm.

Berg also attended the Coronation during his European visit, and toured several countries on the continent.

Athabasca Teachers Listed For Coming Term

ATHABASCA — Most students were anxious to get back to school after the prolonged postponement of the opening date. It was a thrilling day for the beginners coming into grade 1 and a day of hopeful expectation for those entering the high school grades. In Athabasca High School some difficulty in program planning for each student was almost certain to come, since there is a shortage of one teacher on the staff.

Saturday, Sept. 12, was a busy day, as the staff met to plan their opening procedures for the Monday morning rush period. The vanishing of five rural schools into Athabasca this fall has caused a considerable increase in enrollment which necessitated the opening of two additional class rooms.

Tentative list of teachers for the grades is as follows: Grade 1, Mrs. D. Stolen; grade 1 and 2, Mrs. I. Noel; grade 2, Mrs. A. Donahue; grade 3, Mrs. L. Scott and Mrs. P. Wilson; grade 4, Miss M. Pelak and Mrs. Z. Tymchuk; grade 5, Mrs. M.

Bulmer and Mrs. P. Ward, grade 6, Mrs. A. Elgert. Junior high school teachers are Mrs. J. Rollings, Mr. J. Appleby, Mr. T. Korble, and Mr. N. Nimco, High school teachers are Mr. N. Andruski (principal), Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. N. LaBranch, Miss H. Borthwick, Mr. C. Tymchuk, Mr. J. Brill and Mrs. I. Stonehocker (vice-principal).

It also became known on the opening of the school that two Newbrook children had won the plaque presented by the Alberta Safety Council for the best essay written on Farm Safety, the winners being Nataka Semetuk and Alvin Sloboda and Newbrook residents are very proud of the students.

Mr. Fred Bablitz and his son Walter are motoring to Manitoba and Saskatchewan to visit relatives after returning to Newbrook. Walter will then continue on his journey to Radium, where he is employed.

She was given in marriage by her father and was attended by six bridesmaids, two of whom wore pink dresses and carried mauve bridesmaid bouquets and two wearing green dresses carrying yellow bouquets.

After the ceremony a lovely dinner was served in the hall where a very large crowd attended. For her son's wedding Mrs. Earl Chavoley chose a brown suit with a purple hat and wore a purple corsage.

After a two-week wedding trip the young couple will be at home in Boyle.

Warning To Hunters

Everyone should know that Rabies Control Project is still on under supervision of Mr. W. Lobay, Supervisor Crop Protection Service. Farmers set coyote getters and strychnine pellets all over especially close to lakes and creeks and other places around the farm. Warning signs are posted on gates and close to places where the farmers set out the poison.

With hunting season open, hunters will come to our area as usual. We are warning all of them that they should take proper precautions bearing in mind that they may be close to deadly sets of cyanide guns and strychnine and should keep away from those places as much as possible and do not touch them.

Gideons Plan Fall Testament Program

The first regular meeting of the Edmonton Gideons for 1953-54 season took place in the Corona Hotel under the chairmanship of President Milo Melvin. In making his first report since his election to office, President Melvin stated that 5,900 youth testaments for distribution to Edmonton and district school children have been ordered. In addition, a request has come in to place 112 Gideon Bibles in the new maternity wing of the Royal Alexander Hospital when it is opened.

Secretary Ernest Wickens stated that Canadian General Secretary Arthur Burnham of Toronto will be in Edmonton on the week-end of October 10. A special Gideon banquet and participation in local church services is planned for the occasion.

Better Lunches, Better Grades

Many Students Lack Health Reserves Through Poor Diet

The schoolchild requires a similar diet to that of the pre-schooler but his needs are greater. Surveys show that many school children in Canada are without sufficient health reserves because they are too thin. They lack the quantity. Since children at this age are growing fast and are expending a great deal of energy, they need more food in proportion to their size than do grown-ups.

School life brings about special problems in feeding. Many children start the day with a breakfast inadequate to keep them going satisfactorily until lunch time. This is a poor practice, as their lunch is frequently eaten away from home. The provision of an adequate noon meal is most important because children who are well nourished tend to be healthier, happier, and more efficient in their school work than undernourished children.

A good lunch, whether at home or at school, should contain: Milk, to drink or a milk dish; Meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, dried peas or beans, or peanut butter. Whole wheat of Canada Approved bread; Fruit or vegetable, raw or cooked. Extras may be added if desired.

The School Lunch may be brought entirely from home. This may include a jar of some food which can be successfully heated, or the lunch may be supplemented by a hot dish as cocoa, soup, tomato scallop, macaroni and cheese, baked beans, etc. prepared at school under the supervision of teacher, a Parent-Teacher Association member or a paid worker.

Caterpillar Led Way To Insulation

Scientists say that the inventor of insulation was the common cecropia moth caterpillar. Long before building insulation was even dreamed of, this little creature had found a way to protect itself from sub-zero temperatures by spinning a snug, double-walled cocoon of pure silk.

The cecropia has a unique modern counterpart: vermiculite, an insulating material with a striking physical resemblance to the caterpillar. Vermiculite is one of the mica minerals, and in the early days miners called it "feather gold" because of its light weight and glistening color.

Crude vermiculite ore has thousands of paper-thin layers per inch. Within them, tiny water molecules are trapped. When the ore particles are run through a furnace at about 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, this water turns to steam, which "pops" the layers into featherweight granules twelve times larger than their original size.

Vermiculite in attics and side-walls has been reported by homeowners to reduce fuel costs as much as 40 per cent every year. No special installation equipment is needed. Anyone can pour the clean, fluffy granules from the bag. They flow into every nook and cranny to make a complete, uniform blanket of insulation that will outlast the building. Vermiculite does not burn. The processed material weighs only about six pounds per cubic foot, which puts no strain on structural framing members. It is also used in concrete and plaster mixes instead of sand, here, again, its unique properties reduce construction costs.

Processed vermiculite is sold in Canada under the trade name of Zonolite.

DO YOU REMEMBER

Several month ago we ran this "DO YOU REMEMBER" picture and Wesley Mathieu of Coronado sent us the following description of the scene and occasion and received a $1.00 check from the editor. Here is Mr. Mathieu's letter:

The scene reproduced in the Edmonton Sun, March 12th, 1953, is a true replica of the Entrance to the Empire Theatre in Edmonton taken in years gone by.

I remember going there in 1903 to see a play entitled "Bonnie Briar Bush." I was in my mid 20's then and just proved up on my homestead 40 miles from Edmonton where I still reside. It was one of the town's best theatres, with the Bijou, before the movies (silent) came.

The picture in your March 5th issue is not very clear but the most distinguishable part of the building with the long flight of stairs on the outside reminds me, however of the Robertson Hall also in Edmonton, another place of entertainment, perhaps the first in Edmonton, when I first had seen it in 1895.

Radio "Hams" Want Call Letter License Plates

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The Amateur Radio League of Manitoba served notice today it would intensify a campaign to have special car license plates for amateur radio operators.

Although twice refused by the provincial government, the league sought license plates with the call-signs of the operator's station printed on them, rather than the usual serial numbers.

Many American states and the province of Quebec give the hams these distinctive plates.

The league based its application on the publicity value to Manitoba of such plates as well as the value of an easily identifiable car for civil defense purposes.

The provincial government said, however, that many groups "could make equally as good, or better claims" for special license designations.

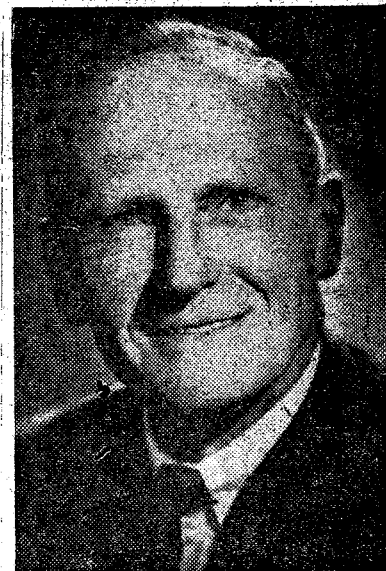

Administrative difficulties in handling such plates made it impossible to accede to the league's request, the government said.

Communists Would Destroy Canadian Scout Movement

WINNIPEG (BUP)—One of the first actions of the communists upon gaining control of a country is to abolish the Scout movement, according to R. C. Stevenson, vice-president of the Canadian general council of the Boy Scouts' Association.

"World scouting is one of the best antidotes for communism," Stevenson said here while on a tour of western Scout centres.

But, despite the iron curtain, he said, world scouting has flourished since the war.

Today, scout movements are active in 56 countries, as compared to 38 six years ago. There are currently 5,000,000 scouts and cubs in the world.

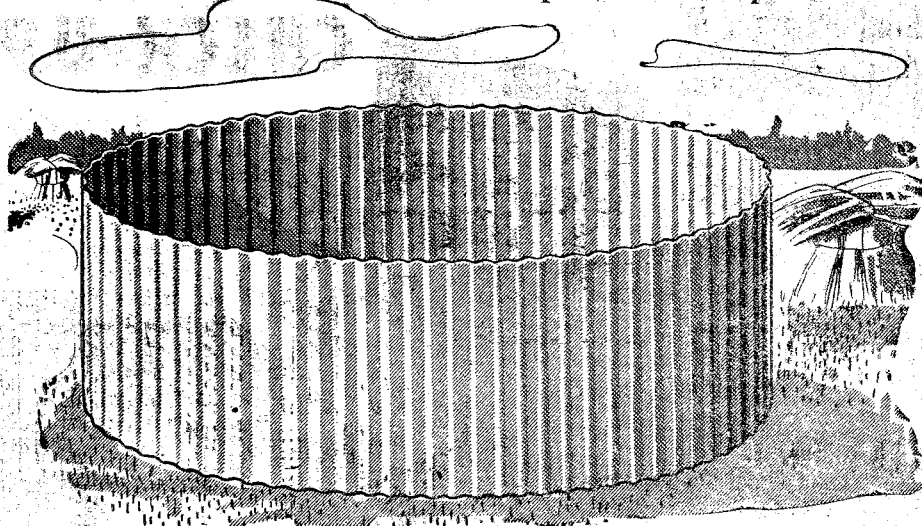

In Canada, 140,000 youths between the ages of eight and 23 belong to scout and cub groups, an increase of 11,000 over a year ago.

Spruce Valley News Briefs

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Homenuik on Sunday, August 30, were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Homenuik of Wausau, his brother, Mr. John Homenuik of Wausau, and his sister, Mrs. Mary Henderson of Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. Peter Koltowski and Elsie and Mr. Mary Sawchyn and Helen were visitors at Lac la Biche on September 8.

Mr. Earl Wright and Mrs. C. G. Merkle, the superintendent of the Athabasca School Division, visited with Miss Elsie Koltowski regarding her teaching profession that she plans to take up in university, starting on September 21 at Edmonton.

On September 9 and 10, Miss Helen Sawchyn and Miss Elsie Koltowski were visitors at Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownie Zilinski and daughters, Teresa and Evelyn, were visiting with their friends and relatives on Sunday, September 13.

The district school did not reopen on September 14 as all other schools did. Not because of polio but because there was no teacher on hand. When Miss Echo Shwed applied at Lac la Biche to supervise in this district school she was told definitely there will be a teacher on hand and that school will reopen on September 14. It is hoped to have a teacher here soon.

Mr. Tony Zachkewich who drives the school bus from Spruce Valley to Grassland, is on duty again. He takes children from grade seven to grade twelve to the Grassland High School on his bus.

Helina News Briefs

School has reopened again. Children are packing their books to school and will study hard for another ten months. The teachers at Rich Lake School are: Mr. Belrose, Miss Mary Tesolin, Miss Ann McCarr and Mrs. Lester Kum-pula.

It looks like the road patrol is nearing the end of its days. Seems as the parts are growing old, as it has broke down quite often this summer.

Suchans have purchased a threshing machine.

Mrs. Clifford Lyttle left recently for the city.

FARMERS! HUNTERS! BEWARE of POISONS and COYOTE GUNS

In the Athabasca Municipal District No. 103 we have over 200 farmers participating in the Coyote Control campaign. Over 1000 Coyote Guns are placed throughout the district and many farmers are using Poison Pellets.

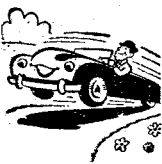

We are urgently reminding the farmers to be sure that the warning signs are placed in conspicuous places and if these warning signs are getting weathered to the point where the writing is not clear these signs should be replaced.

We are warning the HUNTERS to take all precautions. Coyote Guns are deadly—do not lose a valuable dog or your own life.

HUNTERS beware of Poisons and Coyote Guns.

HANS ARMFELT,
Pest Control Officer,
M.D. of Athabasca No. 103.
